

Considering the Evidence: Antiepileptic Medications for Bipolar Disorder

Cathy L. Melvin, PhD, MPH

*The Cecil G. Sheps Center for Health Services Research,
The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill*

Timothy S. Carey, MD, MPH

*The Cecil G. Sheps Center for Health Services Research,
The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill*

John M. Oldham, MD, MS

Menninger Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences, Baylor College of Medicine, Houston, TX

Support. This supplement was funded by a grant administered by a consortium of state attorneys general, independent of any industry funding, which placed no restrictions on the content of these publications.

For more information on this project, please visit the website for the National Program on Prescribing for Better Outcomes (<http://www.prescribingforbetteroutcomes.org>).